

Checklist for Assessing the Library Collection and Selecting Authentic Materials for FLS and the Intercultural Competency

Authentic Materials Definition :

“Le document authentique est un support oral ou écrit non fabriqué à des fins pédagogiques, emprunté à la communication et livré tel quel à l’exploitation en classe.” (Adami, 2009)

Authentic materials are oral or written media that are not made for pedagogical purposes, have been borrowed from real-life communication, and are used as is in the classroom.

Plurilingual and Pluricultural Competency Definition :

“...la compétence à communiquer langagièrement et à interagir culturellement d’un acteur social qui possède, à des degrés divers, la maîtrise de plusieurs langues et l’expérience de plusieurs cultures.” (Conseil de l’Europe, 2001, p.129)

The ability to use language to communicate and the ability to interact culturally by someone who has mastered, in varying degrees, multiple languages and has experienced, in varying degrees, multiple cultures.

By becoming plurilingual and pluricultural, the language learner develops interculturality (Conseil de l’Europe, 2001).

Intercultural Competency Definition :

“Habileté à interagir efficacement avec des gens de cultures différentes de la nôtre.” (Lussier, 2007, p.7)

The ability to interact efficiently with people from different cultures from our own.

The intercultural competency has three components:

- Savoirs (Knowledge)
Knowing facts about the other culture.
- Savoir-faire (Skills)
The ability to interact in accordance with customs of the other culture, knowing how to do things in that culture.
- Savoir-être (Soft Skills/Knowing-How-To-Be)
Being open to the attitudes, beliefs and values of the other culture, understanding, and having a willingness to reconsider one’s own cultural viewpoint and cultural value-system in the context of another culture.

ASSESSMENT OF CURRENT COLLECTION

Does the library collection currently contain or provide easy access to authentic materials for teaching FLS and the intercultural competency? For the purposes of FLS, the intercultural competency is focused, but not limited to, the Québec francophone culture.

Note: Materials may be present physically in the library or made available digitally. They may also be owned by another institution or publically available and made accessible via pathfinders, website links, handouts, bibliographies, interlibrary loans, etc.
