

Writing reflectively in Math and Science....really? Whatever for?

Resources and Relevant Links

Kerry Cule
kcule@learnquebec.ca
@Science\_LEARN
@KCuleLEARN
(with students)

Peggy Drolet
pdrolet@learnquebec.ca
@PeggyONeillDr
@PDroletLEARN
(with students)

Audrey McLaren
amclaren@learnquebec.ca
@a\_mcsquared

Relevant Links

Link
Reflective Writing in Math and Science Scoop-It (curated list of links and articles)
April 22nd Webinar Slides (with embedded links)

Tools

Description	Link
Social media site	twitter.com
Online comic-generator	pixton.com
Online animation tool	powtoon.com
Allows users to create stories from a Twitter hashtag	storify.com
Word cloud creator	tagxedo.com
Online collaboration tool - interact via voice, video, or text	voicethread.com
Online whiteboard collaboration tool	padlet.com
Digital portfolio	ePearl
Free blogging tools	wordpress.org blogger.com